

Deborah Jamison

Q) What years were you at Titus Salt?

2000-2006.

Q) What are you doing now?

I'm an audit manager at KPMG. During my first three years, I completed my ACA qualification to become a Chartered Accountant. I also spent three months working in India where I trained staff at our office in Bangalore.

Q) Did you do any Further/Higher Education/ Apprenticeship courses?

I went to Newcastle University and did a Masters in Maths and Statistics.

Q) Any fond memories of your time at Titus Salt?

I really enjoyed my school days, specifically some of the incredible school trips, including going to Spain twice to play badminton. Also, I once got locked out of Maths by Mr Simpson for being late – but I won't say any more about that!
